In Climb's recent Teton Area Medical Careers/Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) program, participants were provided with laptops, help accessing internet service, and IT support so that the women could participate in the training and connect with each other virtually. Online mock interviews (right) brought in several professionals to practice and provide feedback, and a virtual simulator allowed the moms to practice medical coding live with an instructor.

Dear Friends,

We are so excited to celebrate the latest Teton Area graduates with you! Amidst the pandemic and a lot of uncertainty, this Medical Careers program became one of the boldest and most unique in Climb's history, providing an example for other job training programs nationwide. The 13 women in this group helped build a brand-new virtual training that allowed them to learn medical skills and grow personally. Thanks to each of you for being part of their success! We couldn't do it without your support.

With Gratitude,

 Christy
